"GUSTAR" 30 AUGUST 2017

-Very important verb that we use to express likes.

- We use the following construction to express likes:
- Me gusta (I like)
- Te gusta (You like)
- Le gusta (He/She likes; You formal like)
- Nos gusta (We like)
- Les gusta (You all/ they like)

- Examples:

Me gusta el helado.

I like ice cream.

Nos gusta cantar.

We like to sing.

*Notice that if we put a verb after "gusta," it is in the infinitive form

*To say you don't like something, just put "no" at the front:

I don't like to run.

No me gusta correr.

WHAT DOES THIS REALLY MEAN?

- We have to be careful because the Spanish grammar does not literally mean "I like..."
- "GUSTAR" really means "to be pleasing"
- Therefore:

Me gusta helado.

Ice cream is pleasing to me.

• And if we what we like is in the plural form like manzanas (apples), then we use "gustan"

Te gustan manzanas.

Apples are pleasing to you. (Normal translation: You like apples.)

A PRACTICAR (LET'S PRACTICE)

We like cats.

__ gustan los gatos.

I don't like to eat.

____ me ____ comer.

They like to study.

estudiar.

A PRACTICAR (LET'S PRACTICE)

We like cats.

Nos gustan los gatos.

I don't like to eat.

No me gusta comer.

They like to study.

Les gusta estudiar.

¡OJO!

- Be careful. If you use "gustar" with other people, it means you like them romantically.
- To say you like somebody as a friend or that you like being around them, we will use a different verb construction that we will learn later.

ONE LAST NOTE

- You will not be tested on these yet, but we can add one more thing to clarify who likes what.

For example:

Le gusta la piscina (the pool).

Who likes the pool? Is it él, ella, or usted?

We can add "a + subject" to clarify:

- -A él le gusta la piscina (He likes the pool / The pool is pleasing to him)
- -A usted le gusta la piscina (You formal like the pool)
